NATIONAL HBCU BLOCKCHAIN AND FINTECH CONFERENCE | 12 - 13 NOVEMBER 2021

SPONSORSHIP DECK

RESEARCH AND INNOVATION
The National Center for the Study of Blockchain and Financial Technology
Morgan State University
The only national conference that focuses on frontier research and innovative educational projects conducted by the faculty and students at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs).

The National FinTech Center at Morgan is a Center of Excellence and the hub of the HBCU Blockchain and FinTech Network that actively engages faculty and students at all HBCUs for research, curriculum, and education in Blockchain and FinTech. We support faculty and students at all HBCUs to develop their skills in various areas of FinTech including blockchain, cryptocurrencies, cryptoeconomics, cybersecurity, payment systems, entrepreneurship and related areas.
The National Center for the Study of Blockchain and Financial Technology (the FinTech Center) at Morgan State University is the national thought leader in the HBCU community in FinTech, blockchain, and cryptocurrency and is committed to making a positive impact by promoting innovation in research and education at HBCUs and within the broader community, through:

- Offering innovative educational programs, training, and certifications
- Engaging in and promoting competitive research and publishing
- Creating new courses, modifying existing courses, and developing new curricula
- Designing and implementing experiential learning activities
- Fostering broader financial literacy and access in the unbanked and underbanked communities through outreach and advocacy

Innovation in education and research is a top priority of the Center. This mission is founded on the ethical and cultural principles of the HBCU tradition, which inspire dedication to education and learning to nurture growth and accomplishment.

"I am grateful to the FinTech Center for financially supporting my work on financial decision-making and inclusion among immigrants. The Research and Innovation Conference was a welcome event amidst the ongoing pandemic."

Angelino Viceisza, Spelman College

"The Fintech center provided an invaluable opportunity to expose students to Fintech and Blockchain on an advanced level. The students were mentored by Fintech Industry leadership. This opportunity not only provided education but led to career development and enhancement."

Millicent Springs-Campbell, Spelman College

"The Fintech Center is a wonderfully supportive place for HBCUs like Huston-Tillotson University to use at any stage in their blockchain and fintech program development journey. The staff is knowledgeable and quick to assist with all project needs and it has been a pleasure to work with them. Their annual research and innovation conference is a showcase of high-quality projects, many of which have influenced my own work."

Abena Primo, Huston-Tillotson University
The National HBCU Blockchain and FinTech Conference is the FinTech Center's premier event for connecting university leaders, faculty, and students discussing today's challenges and opportunities, and shaping the future of FinTech education and research.
